

Subject: Think twice

From: [REDACTED]

Date: Thu, Dec 13, 2018 11:11 am

To: [REDACTED]

There is a bomb (Tetryl) in the building where your business is located. It was assembled according to my guide. It has small dimensions and it is covered up very carefully, it is impossible to damage the building structure by this explosive device, but there will be many wounded people if it detonates.

My mercenary keeps the building under the control. If he notices any suspicious activity or policemen the bomb will be exploded.

I can call off my recruited person if you make a transfer. 20'000 usd is the cost for your life and business. Transfer it to me in Bitcoin and I assure that I have to call off my mercenary and the bomb will not detonate. But do not try to deceive me- my assurance will become valid only after 3 confirmations in blockchain.

My payment details (Bitcoin address)- [REDACTED]

You must send bitcoins by the end of the working day. If you are late with the payment the device will detonate.

Nothing personal this is just a business, if you don't send me the bitcoin and an explosive device detonates, next time other commercial enterprises will send me more bitcoins, because it isn't a one-time action.

I won't log into this email. I monitor my Bitcoin address every 40 min and if I receive the payment I will order my man to leave your district.

If an explosion occurred and the authorities read this email:

We aren't terrorists and don't assume responsibility for explosions in other places.